Dear Customer,

Parallax Incorporated certifies that, to its knowledge as to the date of this document, specific products are manufactured in compliance with the Restriction of the use of Hazardous Substances (RoHS) European Union Directive 2002/95/EC. Our certification is based on Parallax's understanding of the directive and component information provided by specific suppliers. We have not conducted any specific chemical testing on our products.

To determine if a specific Parallax product is RoHS compliant visit us at www.parallax.com and enter the product's part number. The logo shown on the left will appear adjacent to the product description.

For our Propeller and SX chips, additional RoHS compliance documentation is available in the relevant datasheet for these chips. All of these chips are RoHS compliant.

Please feel free to contact me personally via phone or kgracey@parallax.com should you have additional requests related to our RoHS compliance efforts.

Sincerely,

Ken Gracey
Vice President
